

Jefferson Energy Hosts Bike Ride for Charity

On October 13, Jefferson Energy Cooperative in Wrens, Georgia held its 5th Annual Cooperative Bike Day. Close to 50 motorcycles took to the highway to raise money for the Southeastern Firefighter's Burn Foundation at Doctors Hospital in Augusta. "It's great to see the support we get each year for this great event," says Steve Chalker, Director of Public Relations for Jefferson Energy. "From the volunteers, to all our great sponsors, to the riders, everybody does their fair share to make this event successful each year," he adds. This year, the event raised nearly $4500.00 for the charity. Following the near 2-hour ride through the east Georgia countryside, participants enjoyed a luncheon held at Jefferson Energy's Wrens headquarters and numerous door prizes were given away.

Plans for next year's ride are already underway. Please watch the Jefferson Energy Update newsletter or visit www.jeffersonenergy.coop for more information.
